Daniel Vásquez

Product Leader · Agentic AI & Operating Models

Product and engineering leader since 2012, from zero-to-one to Fortune 100 scale. I run production software with teams of AI agents, and design the controls they run under.

SUMMARY

I've built an operating model where AI agents plan, build, review and ship production software under outcome-driven development, my own open product and engineering methodology. Before that I led a 70+ person product and engineering organisation and a $70M+ global portfolio at AB InBev, and a post-M&A platform integration at Linio.

CURRENT

Golden Frijoles · Miyagi Sánchez

2025 — Present

Founder & Product Lead · Agentic product platform and commerce infrastructure, both in production

- Designed and run an agentic delivery model: agents investigate, plan, build, review and ship; humans approve anything touching money, auth, migrations or customer data.
- Built it as a reusable platform, not one-off automations: an open-source kit, SDK and CLI (Apache-2.0) installed once and reused across every product.
- Throughput with controls: 250+ pull requests merged on Golden Frijoles in under four months, backed by 650+ automated test files, plus 1,000+ commits on Miyagi Sánchez.
- Independent cross-model review and written retrospectives feed each next session, so quality and controls compound instead of decaying.

- Owned a $70M+ portfolio: roadmaps, business cases and value tracking across regions.
- Delivered in a heavily regulated category at a publicly listed company: every market launch cleared internal legal and external counsel across jurisdictions.

Linio Group

2019 — 2020

- Directed post-M&A systems integration through the Falabella acquisition, leading two managers.
