SUMMARY

I founded and run Miyagi Sánchez, a no-commission marketplace where sellers list once and reach buyers through the marketplace, their own website and AI shopping assistants. Before that I owned a $70M+ global rewards portfolio at AB InBev, integrated commerce platforms through Linio's acquisition by Falabella, and led a Bitcoin remittance platform to 5,000+ active users. With an MSc in Finance, I own the commercial model and the metrics as well as the product.

CURRENT

Miyagi Sánchez · Golden Frijoles 2025 — Present

Founder & Product Lead · No-commission marketplace and agentic product platform

- Miyagi Sánchez: zero-to-one, zero-commission marketplace for Mexico's micro-merchants. Buyers pay sellers directly by card, Mercado Pago, SPEI or cash, and can make offers and chat before paying.
- AI-native by design: a seller describes their business in one sentence and the shop builds itself; every shop also lives on the seller's own domain and where AI shopping assistants can buy from it.
- Built with AI agent teams since June 2026: 1,000+ commits, with human approval on anything touching money, auth or customer data.
- Golden Frijoles: agentic product-management platform with an open-source SDK and CLI for feature flags, A/B tests and outcome reporting; 250+ pull requests merged in under four months.
